Roles Data protection laws in Europe distinguish between organizations that process personal data for their own purposes (known as controllers) and organizations that process personal data on behalf of other organizations (known as processors).

Recipient (70.1%):

Any questions that you have relating to the processing of personal data by FASHIONGO as a processor should be directed to the relevant business customer.

Personal Data (99.3%):

Lawful Basis for Processing Data protection laws in Europe require a lawful basis for processing personal data.

Legitimate Interest (89.0%):

Our lawful bases include where: (a) you have given consent to the processing for one or more specific purposes, either to us or to our service providers, partners, or business customers; (b) processing is necessary for the performance of a contract with you; (c) processing is necessary for compliance with a legal obligation; or (d) processing is necessary for the purposes of the legitimate interests pursued by us or a third party, and your interests and fundamental rights and freedoms do not override those interests.

Art. 18 Right to restriction of processing (61.0%), Art. 20 Right to data portability (62.9%):

You also have the right to data portability and the right to restrict or object to our processing of personal data we have collected about you.

Right (70.5%):

In addition, you have the right to ask us not to process your personal data (or provide it to third parties to process) for marketing purposes or purposes materially different than for which it was originally collected or subsequently authorized by you.

Consent (67.2%):

You may withdraw your consent at any time for any data processing we do based on consent you have provided to us.

Required Purpose (79.2%):

We may require specific information from you to help us confirm your identity and process your request.

Personal Data (92.8%):

If personal data about you has been processed by us as a processor on behalf of a business customer and you wish to exercise any rights you have with such personal data, please inquire with our business customer directly.

Legitimate Interest (78.7%), Required Purpose (86.8%):

Please note that we retain information as necessary to fulfil the purposes for which it was collected, and may continue to retain and use information even after a data subject request for purposes of our legitimate interests, including as necessary to comply with our legal obligations, resolve disputes, prevent fraud, and enforce our agreements.
